Literature, Drama Lectures Planned

A lecture-discussion series focusing on "The Condition of Man: Modern and Ancient Viewpoints of Literature and Drama" will be presented in Torrance by the University of Southern California beginning April 16.

The meetings, featuring four distinguished USC professors, will be held on eight consecutive Tuesdays, 8 to 10 p.m., in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Newville, 417 Pasco de la Playa.

Fees for the series, a presentation of USC's University College and Archimedes Circle, support group for the USC School of Engineering, are $50 per couple or $35 per person.

Registration can be made by mailing a check to University College, USC, University Park, Los Angeles 90007, telephone 746-2642.

Schedule for the series is:

April 16—Dr. Norma Goodrich, professor of French and Comparative Literature, "An Engineer Become Novelist, or the Career of Alain Robbe-Grillet." film: "Last Year at Marienbad." Novel: "In the Labyrinth."

April 23—James Durbin, professor of English and Comparative Literature, "American Fiction: After Faulkner and Hemingway. What?" Barth, Bellow, Updike.

April 30—Prof. Durbin, "New Directions in the Modern Theater."—"Waiting for Godot." "The Caretaker."

May 7—Dr. Gerald Larue, professor of Biblical History and Archaeology, "Roots of Modern Literature and Drama: an Archaeologist's View." C. Loew, "Myth, Sacred History and Philosophy," paperback book published by Harcourt-Brace.

May 14—Prof. Larue, "Digging Up the Past," illustrated by colored slides and artifacts.

May 21 and 28—John Blankenship, professor of drama, "The Play's the Thing," scenes from "Our Town," "The Feiffer's People," "Zoo Story," and works of other leading contemporary playwrights, enacted by members of USC's Edinburgh Players, internationally acclaimed student touring troupe.

June 4—Prof. Goodrich, "Targets of Modern Novelists," focusing on Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago," Sartre's "Tropismes," and Golding's "Lord of the Flies."
